AUTISM SPEAKS™
It's time to listen.

Thank you for taking a crucial step in helping yourself and those whom you care about have a healthier outcome in the event of an emergency or disaster. There is no specific amount of time needed for making an emergency disaster plan. Individuals and their families all have their own unique circumstances to address and will require a varying amount of time. Your plan will revolve around identifying who and what makes up the support system that enables you to live the level of independence that you do. Your plan is a systematic approach to replicate that system in the event of a disaster. Individuals and families all have a responsibility for their personal welfare regardless of the circumstance. Remember, developing your plan will take time and won't happen overnight, so please dedicate the time needed to create and maintain your plan.

This book will guide you through creating your own/household plan or for someone you value. It will also ask you to contact your local Police, Fire Department and Department of Emergency Management for information and assistance in completing your emergency/disaster plan. You will also learn about programs in your community regarding preparedness, self-disclosure, sheltering and partnerships for preparedness. You must share this plan with your family members, caregivers, healthcare providers, your schools, day programs and your neighbors. It only works when everyone works together, and you're taking the first step.

Please review the complete guidebook before you start filling it out. If you answer "no" to any of the questions, continue to the next question. When you update the plan remember to re-answer all the questions because things change and everyone needs to adjust to these changes. It is

2 ½ yrs. _____, 3 years _____, 3 ½ yrs. _____, 4 yrs. _____,

STEP 1: Being Informed - Let's start with an emergency taking place at your home:

What alarm/alert systems are there in your home?

Smoke/Fire alarm:

Intrusion/Burglar Alarm:

What does each of them sound like, is there a flashing light, ASL emergency message or vibration?

Is every member of your household familiar with these signals and do they know what to do when they're activated? Yes - No

If 'no', what can be done to ensure their safety?

What are two ways you can stay in contact with each of your household members? (Intercom, yelling, cell phone)

What alarm/alert systems are there at the places you frequent?

Self-disclosure: is right for you?

Definition: when an individual or legal guardian informs/discloses their functional need to an individual, agency or organization.

Consider self-disclosing your functional need consideration to your local fire/police department and/or Office of Emergency Preparedness. By sharing this information, your local first responder will have valuable information prior to an event, enabling them to provide more effective service to you. Also, they'll be aware of your emergency/disaster preparedness plan.

Contact your local agencies to see if they have a self disclosure program.

How to Self Disclose a Functional Need to your local Fire Department

After completing this form, take it to the closest fire station to your residence. If you're not sure which station is the closest to you, stop at a fire station and ask the firefighters which station services your residence. When arriving at the station in your neighborhood, inform them that:

You'd like to self-disclose a functional need.

- This information will enable the fire department to provide more effective service.

By having crucial information prior to an incident:

- The firefighters will have crucial information prior to arriving on scene.
- This disclosed information provides firefighters and Emergency Service Managers with crucial information for preplanning.
- You're providing the location of an individual who has a high probability of requiring rescue and/or emergency medical treatment.
- You'd like your fire department to place this information under 'Premise Alert' in the Computer Aid Dispatching System. This way any fire truck responding to your residence will have this crucial information.
- Inform them that the resident/household has an emergency/disaster plan and is preparing to be self-sufficient for 96 hours in the event of a disaster.

You will provide them with current information when conditions change and confirm that the information is current every 3 years. If I fail, please remove my information from the system. Make a copy to keep for yourself.

Step 2: Make a Plan

Disasters – What Could Happen?

It’s important to know the types of emergency/disasters that can occur in your community and/or household. Below are some common disasters and a place for you to add others that may occur in your area. Sit down with your social/support network, (family, friends, neighbors, school, day program, care providers) to identify your primary response/action (ways you can learn about it, where you will go, who needs to be contacted, or how you will get there), and items that you will/may need. Record them below.

	Fire	Thunder Storm	Power Outage	Wildfire
How do you learn of it?
Response to it
Where to go
Who needs to be contacted?
How to get there
Items that are needed?

Home Layout

Create a layout drawing of your house and identify exits, meeting places and shelter-in-place locations.

Home Layout

A large grid for drawing a home layout. The grid consists of 16 columns and 20 rows of empty squares, providing a space for a hand-drawn floor plan.

Exits

List the two primary locations where you spend most of your time at home. List two ways out of each of those areas and a meeting place.

Location	Primary Exit Route	Secondary Exit Route
One:
Two:
Meeting Place

Shelter-in-Place: Refers to staying in the safest location in your residence that can be secured and has the least amount of exposure to the outside.

Identify two shelter-in-place locations inside your household where you can close and lock the windows & doors.

Location One
Location Two

Shelter-in-place generally consists of:

- Gathering your family members together.
- Selecting a room within your home that is in the center, which has the fewest windows.
- Lock all doors and windows.

- Place your emergency supply kit in the room (covered pages 22-25 in the workbook).
- Use plastic to cover the windows and seal the edges with tape. This seals any leaks around the window sills.
- Use plastic and tape along the doors frame edges.
- Use plastic and tape and cover all air duct vents from within the room.
- Have your supplies in the room and ready.
- Care for all family members according to their specific needs.
- Check for news updates using your radio, TV, Internet & follow those instructions

Evacuation: Refers to relocating yourself and family to a location away from your home that provides safety and assistance in the event of a disaster.

Does anyone need assistance with evacuation and/or getting to the shelter/location? Yes – No

If you need assistance, who will provide it and how will you contact them?

Name	Phone Number	Email Address

What are two safe evacuation routes out of your neighborhood/town?

First Route	Second Route

What are two routes to get to your shelter/place where you will meet your family/household members?

First Route	Second Route

To locate your nearest shelter, contact your local Department of Emergency Management.

Do you know the location of the shelter or place you can go to that can meet your needs if you have to evacuate your home?

Yes – No

Name	Location

Picking up family/household members

What are the arrangements for picking up individuals who may be at work, school/day program?

Who?	Who'll pick them up?	Pick up Location?	Special Instruction

Meeting Places

Choose three places to meet:

- 1) Outside your home
- 2) Outside your neighborhood
- 3) Outside of town (relative/friends home)

Meeting Place outside home
Meeting Place outside neighborhood
Meeting Place out of town

Step 3: Identify Your Social/Support Network

Household Family Members

Identify individuals and pets living in your home. Include names, relationship, age, contact information and any special considerations.

Name & age	Contact Info	Special Consideration

Social/Support Network Contact Information & Their Plan

Early on, identify the need for additional assistance in the event of an emergency/disaster. It's possible that on a day-to-day basis you and/or your family members can function independently inside your home, but think how you or others may need assistance if something were to happen. These individuals/service providers that you identify will become your social support network. Try to expand your social/support network to include new providers and individuals. The bigger your support base, the better you will be in maintaining support in the event of an emergency/disaster. Talk with others about their emergency/disaster plan. Consider pooling resources and creating a plan together.

Meet with these individuals/service providers to prepare and review your emergency preparedness plan so everyone knows their responsibilities and roles.

Name/Relationship	2 Contact Numbers	Role/duty during event

Be specific on roles/duties; include things like:

- Who will take care of the family if someone is away/at work?
- Who is able to provide transportation?
- Who will check on the family during the event?
- Who and where will the family shelter during an evacuation? Think about friends, day programs and the possibility developing a plan for a shelter.

Out-of-State Social/Support Network

Ask a friend or relative who does not live in the area/state to be your ‘out-of-area’ contact. Many times during disasters, in-state telephone lines and cellular networks are jammed and down. There is a better chance of making contact if you identify a long distance number, send a text message long distance or an email.

Family members should memorize numbers and/or carry an emergency contact card and/or put it in their cell phones (page 34). These numbers will be called if you’re not able to make contact with their local support system and/or you’ve become distressed. Your ‘out-of-area’ contact can coordinate a reconnecting location and time for your support network.

Name/Relationship	Phone Number	Email Address

Important Phone Numbers/Emails you may need:

Step 4: Putting a Disaster Kit Together

Go-Kit

This should be a portable disaster kit that is easy to grab if you have to evacuate your home immediately. Remember to adjust the items to the specific needs of each family member.

Basic Disaster Kit - Being Self-sufficient for 96 hours

This kit should be stored close by your shelter-in-place location. It's larger than your Go-Kit. Your Go-Kit can be used to compliment your Disaster Kit.

The kit provides food, water and all items to meet your needs and those of your support members for at least 4 days. Remember to rotate perishable items every six months or so. A good reminder is when you change your smoke detectors, rotate the perishable items. Also, put a note in/on your calendar. Remember to adjust the items to the specific needs of each member of your household.

- Water
 - Canned vegetables, fruit, juices and meats may also supply a source of water as well as nourishment.
- Purifying agent: household bleach

- Items that the individual may be dependent upon for familiarity and security
- Think about what items are needed: _____
- _____
- _____
- _____

Service Animal/Pet Kit:

- Collar, leash, service harness - food – treats - medications
- Crate – blanket (for sleeping)
- Paperwork/documentation indicates service animal

www.citizencorp.gov/cert

Practice and Maintain Your Plan

Review your plans every six months so everyone knows what to do. You have to take responsibility for your own plan and to involve your social/support network.

- Once a year conduct a practice drill providing you and your support network an opportunity to utilize the plan.
- Make adjustments to your plan. What was learned during your practice drill? 'Practice like you play'.

A Few Last Words

I can't THANK YOU enough for taking the time to develop your preparedness plan. You'll have a healthier outcome in the event of an emergency or disaster. You're also taking responsibility for your own safety, welfare and encouraging those around you. You may not be aware of it, but your interest in being prepared is helping others to continue in their preparedness.

I know from my own personal life story: I am a son of a quadriplegic father, the father of a son with severe cognitive delays, and a paramedic with a city fire department. I understand the devastation emergencies and disasters can cause to family and a community. The vulnerability of individuals with functional needs adds more sensitivity to the equation. Part of a plan is better than no plan at all. Please start today and continue building it tomorrow!

How to Self Disclose a Functional Need to your local Fire Department

After completing this form, take it to the closest fire station to your residence. If you're not sure which station is the closest to you, stop at a fire station and ask the firefighters which station services your residence. When arriving at the station in your neighborhood, inform them that:

You'd like to self-disclose a functional need.

- This information will enable the fire department to provide more effective service.

By having crucial information prior to an incident:

- The firefighters will have crucial information prior to arriving on scene.
- This disclosed information provides firefighters and Emergency Service Managers with crucial information for preplanning.
- You're providing the location of an individual who has a high probability of requiring rescue and/or emergency medical treatment.
- You'd like your fire department to place this information under 'Premise Alert' in the Computer Aid Dispatching System. This way any fire truck responding to your residence will have this crucial information.
- Inform them that the resident/household has an emergency/disaster plan and is preparing to be self-sufficient for 96 hours in the event of a disaster.

You will provide them with current information when conditions change and confirm that the information is current every 3 years. If I fail, please remove my information from the system.
